

Making Sense of Today's Talent Services

Talent guru Josh Bersin (Principal @ Bersin by Deloitte) stated that we have entered a 'new world' of HR Tools. This new world is always complicated, often confusing, and somewhat daunting. While 83% of Talent Leaders say 'Talent is the number one priority' in their organisation, it may seem impossible to keep up with disruption & development in talent management today.

Understanding what talent function supports are available, brings you one step closer to this 'new world'. We've created this Map as an illustration of the range of services & solutions available to Talent Leaders who want to improve their ability to attract & retain people, train & manage their employees, and refine their talent strategy.

If your company is looking to improve its talent management strategy, Enterprise Ireland can provide further information on the options available to you, as well as introductions to the companies represented above.